

The first two months, Australia's exports to China increased by 500% lobster trade

April 15, 2016 14:38:47 Source:

Xinhua Shanghai April 15 (Reporter Chen Aiping) 14 reporter was informed that the first two months, Australia's exports to China a variety of merchandise trade increased significantly. Among them, the lobster trade grew by 500%. Insiders said the December 20, 2015 Japan-Australia FTA entered into force, a growing number of Australian companies the products in a more favorable cost structure or the price of exports to China; at the same time, more Australian companies to start cooperation with Chinese enterprises.

Australian Trade Envoy Andrew Rob, apart from lobster, the number of Chinese consumers by Australian agricultural and sideline products, food, daily necessities trade increase significantly. According to Australia's latest official data, this year from January to February total from a year earlier, bottled wine exports to Australia's exports to China grew by 122%, mango exports increased by 160%, cosmetics, skin care products exports volume grew 165 %.

Andrew? Rob said, many Chinese and Australian companies in Australia are encouraged by the entry into force of the FTA before and since, through the establishment of joint ventures to strengthen trade, market opportunities.

Australian Chamber of Commerce CEO Stephen? Cartwright introduced, and now has more than 100 Australian companies involved in the Australian Chamber of Commerce project in China, and there are more than 60 Australian companies and Chinese enterprises to launch a new trade cooperation.

14, Australia, bottled mineral water and spring water brand NOVA Chinese retailer Tang International Holdings Limited signed a memorandum of cooperation. The first orders for production of mineral water, and will soon enter the Chinese market. In addition, the main export and foreign high-end milk powder business in Australia Phoenix International Exports and Port Group signed a memorandum of cooperation.

Stephen Cartwright also pointed out that China cross-border electricity supplier tax reform this year April 8 in effect, become an important guarantee to promote the development of Sino-Australian trade.

"With the Australian agricultural and food continue to enter the Chinese market, and Chinese shopping habits of consumers, especially by the electricity supplier for Australian businesses, the importance of cross-border electricity supplier is even more prominent. On the other hand, since the channel model a variety of cross-border electricity supplier has created some uncertainty. "Stephen? Cartwright said the Chinese cross-border electricity supplier is no doubt that from the macro level of tax reform to reduce the electricity supplier companies to start business uncertainty. Despite the short-term, cross-border electricity supplier tax may be increased; but in the long term, China-Australia free trade agreement to bring the good superposition Chinese enterprises better tax policies, will promote Sino-Australian companies to further expand trade exchanges. (Finish)

http://www.sh.xinhuanet.com/2016-04/15/c_135281990.htm